Professionalism 101 with Molly Malone

In this guest conversation episode, Molly Malone defines professionalism as a refined sense of tenacity. She discusses the power of the B student and speaks about how to set the tone in an interview and the office. Host Troy Campbell adds some perspectives from his time as a Disney Imagineer, including how to tell your own Disney Destiny Story, and editor Alec Cowan explains how to pull off the perfect handshake. Molly Malone is a board member at the Lundquist College of Business and a former vice president of sales for Kroger, with a lifetime of expertise in sales, leadership, and professionalism. Today, her passion is helping people find their way, build careers, and be professional.

WorkLife with Adam Grant: A TED original podcast

About WorkLife

Organizational psychologist Adam Grant takes you inside the minds of some of the world's most unusual professionals to explore the science of making work not suck. From learning how to love criticism to harnessing the power of frustration, one thing's for sure: You'll never see your job the same way again.

As one of Apple Podcasts' most downloaded new shows of 2018, WorkLife spent two weeks as the #1 show on the entire podcast chart.
